

2009 Individual Federal and State Tax Return Questionnaire

Please review, complete and return this document along with your tax paperwork:

If I have not prepared your prior year return, please provide it. Completing this checklist will greatly facilitate the preparation of your tax returns which assists in keeping my fee at a reasonable amount.

Please remember to submit the following most common income items:

- W-2 forms for wages
- Copy of your last paycheck stub(s), if available
- 1099 Div forms for dividend income
- 1099 Int forms for interest income
- 1099 R forms for retirement income
- Gambling Income
- Other Income – 1099 Misc for rent received or non employee compensation
- Tax refund form 1099 G for last year's refund
- Unemployment compensation
- Business income
- Any other – please provide detail

Please remember to submit the following most common expenses to deduct (amount can be written in right margin but I would also like to see the supporting document(s)):

- Real estate taxes
- Mortgage Interest (Form 1098)
- Interest paid on an RV
- Contributions, please provide substantiation – cash or non cash
- Business expenses (please provide detail)
- Gambling expenses
- If you, or your spouse, teach, I will presume you incurred teaching expenses of $250, the maximum deduction, unless you tell me otherwise.
- Any moving expenses
- Student loan interest, please provide forms
- Uniforms, union dues, safe deposit box fee, expenses related to investment income and/or last year's tax prep fee (all these are miscellaneous deductions)
- Tuition or fees for higher education, please provide forms
- Excise tax portion on your personal vehicles (on your car registration)
- Unreimbursed employee expenses such as union dues, job mileage (but not commuting miles), job education or job tools
- Residential rent paid in 2009
- Any other deduction information – provide detail

Medical expenses (prescription drugs, doctor/dentist fees, hospital fees, glasses, contacts, miles on vehicle, etc.) generally cannot be deducted unless you incur a lot of unreimbursed expenses. The amount to deduct is dependent upon your adjusted gross income.
